

'Jonah' to Appear at El Camino

"Sign of Jonah," cited as a "modern morality play," will be presented at El Camino College Campus Theater beginning Thursday and continuing Friday and Saturday. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Bentwood Will Enter Med School

A former Torrance High student president has been selected to attend Marquette University School of Medicine at Minneapolis, Minn.

John Bentwood, a 1959 graduate of Torrance High, received his pre-med training at Stanford University. He completed his undergraduate work in June, 1963, and has been employed in the life science department at North American Aviation for the past year.

Bentwood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bentwood of 1313 Greenwood Ave. He served as president of the Torrance High student body in 1959. His brother, Richard, was ASB president in 1958 at Torrance High.

Science Medalist Selected at West

Miss Patricia Kathleen Swift has been selected as the Science Medalist Awardee from West High School.

Miss Swift and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Swift, were guests of the Industry-Education Council sponsored by the Youth Medalist Award program Thursday.

The production centers around the trial of men and women of the 20th Century. It was first produced in Germany in 1948 and then enjoyed a critically successful run in New York in 1959.

Cast as the name-lead Jonah, is theater arts major Rory Gerstle. It is Jonah who is one of the last to deny God. Gerstle brings to the part acting experience from the El Camino production of "Merchant of Venice" and the Los Angeles Youth Theater production of "The Fantastics."

Helen Garabedian, also from the cast of the "Merchant of Venice" as well as "Alice in Wonderland," plays a political symbol characterized as "the Queen." It is her testimony that transfers the guilt of nations to God.

Other cast members included Ron Berges, Mack Owens, Christy Vasquez, Todd Bingham, Robert Pierman, John Wilson Curtis Clyne and Greg Anego.

Staging and lighting for the production are under the direction of Les Thomas, Linda Arnold and Clark Trimble. Robert McKinnon, theater arts instructor, is director.

Tickets may be purchased at the El Camino College student stores. Reserved seats are $1.50.

Educator's Guess Is Very Close

How accurate is an educator's educated guess? According to enrollment figures at the end of the first month of school, Torrance administrators' estimates were off by less than one half of one percent. On July 15 they predicted an enrollment of 32,026 in the district's 38 schools this fall.

Actual enrollment Oct. 9 was 31,584. Development of the two large tract areas in the Hickory and Magruder attendance areas is expected to boost the figure to original estimates later this year.

ORIGINAL figures predicted an increase of 1,792 students over October, 1963. As of Oct. 9, the increase was 1,327 students.

High school figures almost tallied with predictions, with 8,376 of an estimated 8,382 students enrolled bringing this year's total up 7.6 percent over last year's. Enrollment on the elementary level was 23,208, representing an increase of 3.2 per cent over a year ago. . . . BIGGEST increase took place on the nine grade level, which boasted 255 more students than last year. This year's high school graduating class will be 177 higher than last year's. There were 215 more fifth graders and 188 more seventh graders this year.

As of Oct. 9 heaviest enrollment was at South High, 2,789 students and Victor Elementary School, 1,111 students.
